DEAR FRIENDS:

Being there always, and in all ways, for those who matter most to us can be one of life’s greatest achievements. At Atrium Medical Center, where caring is our mission, we’re honored to have been there for you for nearly 100 years.

I am so proud of all that we’ve done for our patients, their loved ones and our community over the past century, as health care has advanced and changed along with the region we call home. My connection to our hospital’s legacy began in 1980, so I speak from long personal experience when I say that our family of physicians, employees and volunteers makes your good health our number one priority, every day. Roots run deep at Atrium, so you’re likely to see familiar faces with long tenure caring for you and your family. That can be comforting in times of great stress.

You, too, are part of our strong tradition of caring. Whether you volunteer your time and expertise or donate your hard-earned treasure, we are sincerely grateful for your compassionate and ongoing support. Together, we change lives in our community in ways big and small. Thanks to your generous spirit, our impact is greatly multiplied.

You’ll be hearing more soon about how you can join our centennial celebration. It kicks off with our fourth gala, Memories Are Made of This – Celebrating 100 Years in September. Our new campaign, Tomorrow’s Promise: Continuing the Legacy is creating exciting opportunities for Atrium to serve as we enter our second century.

Whether you’re new to our region or a fourth-generation resident, know that you can count on us always to be here for you and your loved ones, whenever you need us. Thank you for trusting us to care for you.

Gratefully,

Carol J. Turner, FACHE
President and CEO, Atrium Medical Center
A STRONG FOUNDATION TO BE THERE ALWAYS

Successful fundraising, dedicated volunteers, a healthy financial outlook – these are just some of the ways Atrium Medical Center Foundation ensures that we’ll be there for you, always and in all ways, now and in the years ahead.

Thanks to more than 400 generous donors and the outstanding leadership of campaign chair J. Phillip Holloman, our Every Woman, Everywhere campaign raised more than $950,000 to put a mobile mammography coach on the road in southwest Ohio. The campaign also created a patient simulation laboratory to provide Atrium’s staff with high-tech training for the safest patient care. In an overwhelming show of support, our donors surpassed both the campaign’s initial and stretch goals as they took the fight against breast cancer to the streets.

When our assets reached a record high of $20 million in 2015, the Foundation celebrated a significant milestone. We’re especially grateful to our major donors for fueling this remarkable growth as we reinvest and distribute funds to build healthier communities. Although assets at year end dipped slightly due to market forces, we are confident they will continue to grow. More donors are demonstrating their belief in the Foundation’s future and creating their own legacies with endowments and estate gifts. In fact, the last 10 years – since the opening of Atrium Medical Center – have been the most powerful for the Foundation’s growth.

So many giving individuals, families, businesses and organizations show their support by being there always for Atrium’s patients and our communities. Among those we highlight in this report are:

- J. Phillip Holloman, Dr. Judy Burichin and Jerrold Twohig, and other individuals and families who step up to make a difference
- Dr. Jack Barnes, lovingly remembered by his wife with an endowment focused on surgical care
- NTE Energy, walking the talk of being a good neighbor
- Interact for Health, partnering with us to strengthen our communities
- Atrium Auxiliary Middletown, Middletown Area Federation of Women’s Clubs and other groups that make service a way of life

As we have since 1984, Atrium Medical Center Foundation is proud to offer meaningful ways for donors from all walks of life to make an impact that matters. We’re honored to be your partner in philanthropy.

HONORING HIS SERVICE AND DEVOTION

JACK BARNES, MD

“He was a kind, loving man and a dedicated, compassionate surgeon. His colleagues regarded him highly, and he cared deeply about Middletown Regional Hospital.”

When Patricia Barnes wanted to honor the service and devotion of her late husband, Jack, she knew that creating an endowment would be a fitting remembrance.

“He was a kind, loving man and a dedicated, compassionate surgeon,” she says. “His colleagues regarded him highly, and he cared deeply about Middletown Regional Hospital.” After he passed away in August 2013 at age 86, Pat looked to Atrium Medical Center Foundation to help her establish the Dr. John W. Barnes Surgical Excellence Endowment.

Born and raised near Columbus, Ohio, Jack entered The Ohio State University pre-med program in 1945, completing his studies in just three years. After graduating from Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine, Jack served his internship in New Orleans and completed a general surgery residency at the Dayton Veterans Administration Hospital.

Jack began his practice as a general surgeon in Middletown in 1958. Over the years, he was elected chief of surgery multiple times and, in the early 1960s, became a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Jack and his former wife raised five children in Middletown. Jack convinced his younger brother, Bruce, an oral surgeon in Indianapolis, to relocate his practice and family to Middletown, too. Bruce and his wife, Neila, are founding members of the Foundation’s Heritage Society, for those who have included the Foundation in their estate plans. They also have supported the Dr. Jack Barnes Endowment.
Dr. Jack Barnes dedicated his life to surgery, serving patients for 30 years. He and his wife, Pat, were married 20 years before his passing in 2013. Jack persuaded his brother and sister-in-law, Bruce and Neila Barnes, to relocate Bruce’s oral surgery practice to Middletown.

Jack met Pat in 1986 when one of his daughters married one of her sons. Their paths crossed again two years later when another of his daughters married another of her sons. At the time, Pat was a widow and mother of five with a thriving real estate practice in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Jack retired in 1988 at age 66. After becoming single, he and Pat started dating and were married in 1993. Pat closed her real estate practice to join him in Middletown. Jack and Pat also shared a retirement home in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, where Pat now resides full time. Both are members of the Foundation’s Heritage Society and Beacon Society (for major donors).

“I wanted there to be something to remember Jack by at the hospital he loved so much,” Pat explains. “The Dr. John W. Barnes Surgical Excellence Endowment will be used to help Atrium surgeons continue to deliver excellent care.”
ALWAYS THERE FOR US

JUDITH BURICHIN, MD, AND JERROLD TWOHIG, CRNA

Dr. Judith Burichin and her husband, Jerrold Twohig, retired certified registered nurse anesthetist, have touched countless lives in southwest Ohio through their work and generosity.
With great dedication over many years, Judith Burichin, MD, and her husband, Jerrold Twohig, CRNA, have touched countless lives in southwest Ohio through their work and generosity.

Judy, a popular physician who delivered more than 1,500 babies during her career with Hilltop Obstetrics and Gynecology, and Jerry, a retired certified registered nurse anesthetist, committed their careers to protecting and promoting the health of patients from all walks of life. They’ve watched with pride as Atrium Medical Center has flourished.

“…Atrium’s health care providers care deeply about their patients. That’s what I respect about Atrium and its people,” Judy says. “I’ve always thought the nursing care, especially in Labor and Delivery, is excellent. In fact, it takes an entire team, multiple disciplines and departments, to deliver the excellent health care that Atrium gives.” In addition to her work with Hilltop, Judy also saw patients at Atrium’s Maternal Child Health Center, for underinsured women and children.

Jerry, who was with Middletown Anesthesia Consultants, and Judy are long-time supporters of Atrium Medical Center Foundation.

“My parents instilled in us children a strong sense of ‘self for others,’” Judy shares. “My Dad spoke of this often and acted on it in many ways, but my Mom lived it every day. When we came home at the end of the day, we would never know if there would be guests for dinner. There was always room at Mom’s table for more.”

The work of the Foundation is highly valued by Judy and Jerry. “I have seen the good that the HEAL (Help Endure a Loss) program does helping parents cope with the loss of a child,” Judy says. “I also appreciate the support the Foundation has given to the Wilbur and Mary Jean Cohen Women’s Center, working to keep women healthy.”

Jerry says supporting the Foundation is a smart use of charity dollars. “When Warren Buffet wanted to give away billions of dollars, he turned the money over to the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation because he knew he could trust that foundation to distribute the money well. Now, we’re not even close to Buffet,” Jerry laughs, “but when we give to Atrium’s Foundation, we know each dime will be well spent, to make the hospital even stronger for the people of this region.”

“Supporting the Foundation is a smart use of charity dollars. When we give to Atrium’s Foundation, we know each dime will be well spent, to make the hospital even stronger for the people of this region.”
A NEW NEIGHBOR, A NEW FRIEND

NTE ENERGY

“We have looked for opportunities to lend our support to places and programs that are beneficial to the people we will serve. Atrium Medical Center Foundation uses donated funds to improve health care in southwest Ohio in a variety of ways, and we liked what we saw.”

When the people of NTE Energy first started looking at the Middletown area as a possible site for a new energy center, they got to know business and political leaders and other folks in the area.

“We met a lot of great people and discovered what was important to the communities around here,” says Michael Schuster, NTE director of development. “We learned about the many strengths of the area, including Atrium Medical Center and its ability to provide expert health care to the people of this region.”

In October 2015, construction began on the new Middletown Energy Center, a natural gas electric generating facility that will supply the power needs of approximately 400,000 homes when it is fully operational in 2018. This construction on Cincinnati-Dayton Road represents an investment of more than $600 million, providing numerous benefits to the Middletown, Butler County and Ohio economies.

“As we have become part of the economy of the area, we have looked for opportunities to lend our support to places and programs that are beneficial to the people we will serve,” Mike says. “We found out how Atrium Medical Center Foundation uses donated funds to improve health care in southwest Ohio in a variety of ways, and we liked what we saw. I am very impressed with this organization and the dedication of Foundation President Mike Stautberg and his team.”

Having a medical center that provides all aspects of health care for a lifetime is important to NTE Energy team members and their families, including the more than 300 people involved in construction and the 25 to 30 people who will have permanent jobs at the Middletown Energy Center.

NTE Energy has lent their support to the 2016 James A. Combs Memorial Golf Tournament, held in May, and the Foundation gala, Memories are Made of This – Celebrating 100 Years, held September 24, 2016, at the Sharonville Convention Center.

“We will continue to support Atrium Medical Center Foundation,” says Mike. “It’s neighbors helping neighbors.”
THE PATHWAY TO GOOD HEALTH

INTERACT FOR HEALTH

“We look for partners who share our goals for a healthier region. This project on Atrium’s campus gives visitors and staff members easy access to an enjoyable trail.”

A ribbon cutting ceremony on June 9, 2016, marked the opening of an extension of the walking trail on the campus of Atrium Medical Center, a pathway used by hundreds of people for fitness, inspiration and socialization. This new extension, Phase 5 of an overall plan, lengthens the existing trail on the south side of the campus, taking it from the Caregivers Memory Garden over Medical Center Drive to the outside perimeter of the parking lot.

This extension was made possible by a grant from Interact for Health, an independent, non-profit organization that serves 20 counties in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana by being a catalyst for health and wellness.

“We look for partners who share our goals for a healthier region, and Atrium Medical Center is one of those partners,” says James Schwab, president and CEO of Interact for Health. “Like us, the team at Atrium knows that physical activity is essential to a good life. Exercise keeps the body well-tuned, resilient to stress and high-performing. This project on Atrium’s campus gives visitors and staff members easy access to an enjoyable trail.”

Another grant from Interact for Health was awarded in 2015 that focuses on a different aspect of good health. Because Warren County has seen double- and triple-digit increases in opioid overdose, heroin overdose and the numbers of deaths related to these substances, Interact for Health awarded a planning grant to Atrium Medical Center Foundation to create a comprehensive plan to help reduce these occurrences. As a result, a group of experts mobilized resources and developed a plan that addresses specific community needs and health care challenges presented by opioid and heroin addiction and overdose.
James Schwab, president and CEO of Interact for Health, speaks at the opening of the walking trail extension at Atrium. Interact’s generous grant funded the trail extension on the south side of Atrium’s campus.

“The two grants – one for a walking trail extension and one to help combat opioid use – show the considerable range of how Interact for Health is indeed an important catalyst for health and wellness in this region,” says Michael Schneider, chair, Atrium Medical Center Foundation. “We are grateful for these grants and proud to partner with Interact for Health on goals important to both our organizations.”
HIS MOTHER’S SON

J. PHILLIP HOLLOMAN

J. Phillip Holloman and his mother, Erma Holloman.
You’d think that the president and chief operating officer of Cintas Corporation, headquartered in Mason, would have been greatly influenced by a long line of teachers and mentors – and he has been. All have certainly helped shape him to be the talented leader of 30,000 Cintas employees who help more than 900,000 customers “Get Ready for the Workday.”

But when asked about his biggest influence, he says his father, the late Rev. James Holloman, really helped to develop his leadership skills. Then he speaks of the incredible influence of his mom, Erma Holloman.

“There is nothing like a mother’s love,” Phillip says. “I see it with my mother, my wife, my sister and other women in my family, including my daughter who now is a mother herself.”

His mom was his first – and continual – advocate. Phillip grew up in Middletown’s Cloverdale neighborhood, graduating from Middletown High School in 1973. He was there during turbulent times and was involved in civil rights activities. Through it all, his mother positioned her children for success, Phillip says.

“She broadened my exposure to the world, from something simple, like taking us to a Disney movie, to pushing hard so I had a scholarship at a boarding school one year,” he says.

“My mom taught me respect for others and accountability for everything I do, and made sure I focused on skill development in academics and athletics,” says Phillip. He and his wife, Gail, have done their best to pass these qualities along to their children and, now, their grandchildren.

Realizing the importance of women to their families and communities is one of the reasons why Phillip stepped forward to chair Atrium Medical Center Foundation’s Every Woman, Everywhere campaign. It raised more than $950,000 to help purchase and operate a mobile mammography coach in southwest Ohio.

“When my mom was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2014, we were all devastated,” he recalls. “We are grateful that the surgery and care she received at Atrium Medical Center returned her to us.”

Supporting Atrium Medical Center Foundation is a priority for Phillip. “I’m proud to be from Middletown, and Atrium Medical Center is a jewel in the community,” he says. “One of the important values Mom taught us was to give to causes that deserve our support. For me, that includes Atrium’s Foundation.”

“aright. I’m proud to be from Middletown, and Atrium Medical Center is a jewel in the community. One of the important values Mom taught us was to give to causes that deserve our support. For me, that includes Atrium’s Foundation.”
ALWAYS JOINING THE FUN, FOR A GOOD CAUSE

SPECIAL EVENTS

Atrium Medical Center Foundation is deeply grateful to the incredible chairpersons, sponsors, volunteers and attendees who are always there to lead and support our annual fundraising events. Thank you for the love you share!

James A. Combs Memorial Golf Tournament

A record number of golfers – 134! – took to the greens at the Weatherwax Golf Course in Middletown on May 15, 2015, for the 21st James A. Combs Memorial Golf Tournament. Proceeds of more than $24,000 were split between the Kiwanis Club Middletown for scholarships and the Dr. E. Ronald Oches Endowment for Children’s Health at Atrium Medical Center. Father-son chairs Steve and Dan Dobrozsi once again hosted a winning event.

HEAL Family Fun Festival and Steps 4 Healing Run/Walk

Can an outdoor event with major rain still raise money? Yes, when the big hearts of HEAL (Help Endure a Loss) supporters are involved! Each year families who experienced one of life’s greatest tragedies – the death of a child – come together for the annual HEAL Family Festival and the recently added Steps 4 Healing Run/Walk at the Niederman Family Farm in Liberty Township. Even with Mother Nature’s surprise, thanks to advance registrations, a silent auction and other donations, the event on June 20, 2015, raised over $8,500 for HEAL.

Charity Night at the Tables

We got lucky! The annual Charity Night at the Tables moved to a new location and faithful fans followed. On July 17, 2015, more than 200 guests came to Johnston Hall at Miami University Middletown where the Miami University Regional Campuses dean, G. Michael Pratt, and his wife, Patty, co-chaired this fifth annual event. The evening of funny-money gambling and prizes netted $20,000, shared equally by Atrium’s Emergency Trauma Center and the Atrium Family YMCA.

Highway to Help

This new event was a roaring success! Atrium employee James Bruggeman created Highway to Help for motorcyclists and their family and friends. The inaugural event raised more than $5,000 for the annual holiday Adopt-A-Family program at Atrium. This three-hour covered bridge ride on August 1, 2015, was followed by a fun cookout and prizes at The Brewery Inn in Trenton.

A UNIQUE WAY TO BE THERE ALWAYS

FOUNDATION ENDOWMENTS

– Criss Jami

E ven though we can’t live forever, our good intentions can. Endowments offer a unique way to create our legacy that will stand for decades.

Currently, 40 endowment funds at Atrium Medical Center Foundation [listed at right] exist solely to improve health care in our community today, and they’ll keep on giving for generations to come. The donors who established these endowments – and all who contribute to them – touch future patients, their loved ones and Atrium’s health care professionals in ways that truly matter.

Thanks to the Walter and Nellie Evans Endowment Fund, more Atrium caregivers are able to advance their skills by attending educational events. Generous hospital supporters during their lifetimes, the couple’s endowment enables their commitment to quality health care to live on.

When Stuart Ives, prominent Middletonian and former hospital board member, established his endowment in the 1970s, he could only imagine how the funds would make a significant impact years later. As one of the Foundation’s oldest endowments, it fulfills pressing needs with no other funding – for instance, repairing the fountain in the Cancer Survivors Memory Garden or bridging the unfunded gap for specific hospital projects.

When Atrium opened in 2007 to succeed 90-year-old Middletown Regional Hospital, a major capital campaign made possible the new Heart Center and campus amenities. Four endowments created during that campaign – the Cardiology Ancillary Services Endowment, the G. Robert Gage Cardiology Endowment Fund, the Arlie and Mary Rose Kemplin Endowment and the Jeanne R. Sandston Cardiology Ancillary Services Endowment – today are raising the bar on heart care for our patients. Interest generated by the funds supports the donors’ intents, while the principal remains invested.

“It’s exciting to see endowments established a decade ago improving lives today,” says James B. Kleingers, PE, PS, LEED AP, the Foundation’s Development Committee chair and vice chair of the 2005 – 2007 capital campaign. “Endowments create a perpetual legacy for the donor and, as the ultimate form of philanthropy, take care of health care needs in our community permanently. We’re very grateful.”

Beginning their second century of service in 2015, Atrium Auxiliary Middletown contributed more than $57,000 this past year for special projects at Atrium Medical Center. Even before the hospital’s founding in 1917, these generous volunteers have always been there for patients and their loved ones.

“Many current Auxiliary members have given years, even decades, of service,” points out Past President Martha Oches. “We work on a variety of fundraising projects, all with the goal of bringing advances and opportunities in health care to the people of this region.”

Recent gifts from the Auxiliary include funds to open the Patient Simulation Lab, where Atrium’s staff learn new skills on authentic patient simulators; a golf cart to shuttle patients, visitors and employees between the hospital and the parking lot; and furnishings for a planned bereavement room so families can gather, grieve and talk to caregivers and chaplains in a private place.

Auxiliary funds also are helping to purchase an exam room table for the safe care of severely overweight patients at Atrium’s Maternal Child Health Center; an enhancement for the Bioness System, an electrical stimulation unit that helps disabled people learn to walk; and naloxone kits and training for Project DAWN, enabling trained relatives and friends to reverse an opioid overdose.

An ongoing Auxiliary priority is supporting the Friend Program, which supplies materials for volunteers who help patients pass the time. The Auxiliary is partnering with Atrium Medical Center Foundation to create an endowment to support this program.

The Auxiliary works hard throughout the year to raise funds through annual sales, Hilltop Gift Shop and other special projects. We’re grateful for all they do for Atrium’s patients.

It’s easier to get from the parking lot to the hospital, thanks to this golf cart funded by Atrium Auxiliary Middletown that transports patients, visitors and employees.
Remembering Lily Ann Schulz with Baseball Classic

“If it weren’t for HEAL, I likely would have been a bitter, terrible person.” That statement by Ruthie Schulz shows the power of HEAL (Help Endure a Loss), Atrium’s program for parents who have lost a child due to miscarriage, stillbirth, or neonatal or childhood death. Lily Ann Schulz, the daughter of Ruthie and her husband, Tony, was born deceased on November 10, 2011.

“When we went to our first HEAL group meeting, I was going for Tony’s sake and later found out he was going for me!” says Ruthie, now the mother of 3-year-old Luke and a 2-year-old foster daughter. “But after that first meeting, we both felt like a weight had been lifted.”

The Schulzes decided to give back to Atrium’s HEAL program by starting the Lily Ann Schulz Memorial Baseball Classic in 2013. Each spring Tony, a math teacher and baseball coach, invites other high school varsity teams to the tournament in Fairfield. Over 300 kids and coaches participate, with funds benefiting HEAL.

“When a child has passed, you fear others will forget,” says Ruthie. “This tournament is a way to remember and to help HEAL.”

Couple Says ‘I Do’ to Giving Back

When Caroline Strait and Michael Palmer were married last September, a note on the tables at the reception said that in lieu of a wedding favor for guests, the bride and groom were making donations to two non-profit organizations the couple chose. Caroline selected Atrium Medical Center Foundation’s Every Woman, Everywhere campaign to help purchase a mobile mammography coach. Michael picked The Castle, a social services and mental health organization in Centerville.

“People told us they thought this was a fantastic idea,” says the new Mrs. Palmer, who adds that she and Mike each have a grandmother who’s a breast cancer survivor. “Little did I know that my mother (Foundation board member Barbara Strait) would herself be diagnosed with breast cancer within a couple of months. I’m happy to report that Mom is doing well.”

Caroline, working as a physician assistant, and Mike, finishing up medical school, make their home in Erie, Pennsylvania.

“I lived in Middletown most of my life, and I’m very passionate about Atrium Medical Center and the Foundation,” Caroline shares.

Michael Palmer and Caroline Strait made a donation to Atrium Medical Center Foundation in lieu of providing wedding favors for guests at their September 2015 wedding.

Eagle Scout Project Offers Serenity

The campus of Atrium Medical Center has a new, inviting place for visitors and employees who need a bit of peace and serenity outdoors, thanks to Nick Moore, a Boy Scout of Troop 947. As part of his effort to obtain Eagle Scout rank, 16-year-old Nick created Serenity Garden in the north section of the campus.

At Serenity Garden, a pathway of pavers surrounds a circular reflecting pool. A curved wall with the word “Serenity,” a waterfall, benches and landscaping complete the garden dedicated on October 28, 2015.

Nick, son of Debbie and Tom Moore of Liberty Township, says his inspiration for the project was his late grandfather, Robert L. Gerhart, a person Nick was extremely close to. “When Poppy got sick I really needed a place to go and have some time to think. There just wasn’t a place like that around me. I wanted to make sure that there was a place for other people to go and reflect and find tranquility,” Nick states.

This hard-working young man was pleased at the help and generosity he received from Atrium employees, Atrium’s Foundation, his family and friends and the people of Middletown, including local businesses. “Every chance they had to support me, they did,” Nick reports. “I hope people use the garden as a place to reflect, to find peace.”

Eagle Scout candidate Nick Moore created Serenity Garden on Atrium’s campus as his Eagle Scout project.
Margaret ‘Peggy’ Jones: In Memoriam

When someone who was there for you “always, in all ways” passes away, the loss is significant. That’s how many at Atrium feel about Peggy Jones, a long-term employee of Atrium’s Rehabilitation Center who always went the extra mile for friends and strangers. When this compassionate, wonderful and very likable woman passed away in September 2015, a wide circle of people felt a profound loss.

Given her generous spirit, it comes as no surprise that Peggy was an enthusiastic supporter of Atrium Medical Center Foundation. She served on the employee committee for several of our annual campaigns and gave her financial support as well. Peggy joined our Heritage Society, for those who have included Atrium in their estate plans. We were always glad to see her at so many Foundation events. Fulfilling one of Peggy’s final requests, memorial gifts after her passing came to the Foundation.

Peggy, you are truly missed by so many.

Long-time Atrium employee Peggy Jones enjoyed a recent Charity Night at the Tables event with friends and co-workers.

95th Annual Charity Ball: ‘Christmas at the Abbey’

The splendor of PBS's Downton Abbey television series came to Middletown for Christmas at the Abbey, the 95th Annual Charity Ball sponsored by the Middletown Area Federation of Women’s Clubs.

M’lords and m’ladies arrived on a foggy night for the December 5, 2015, event at the Miriam Knoll Building at Miami University-Middletown. A car from the Downton Abbey period greeted guests at the entrance.

Inside Johnson Hall, theme music, British cuisine served by maids, and tables set with candelabras or snow globes with models of the abbey inside added to the fun.

Philip Harrison and Jamie Murphy-Harrison were the event chairs, along with co-chairs Frances and Daniel Sack. This year’s Charity Ball honorees were Larry and Cathie Mulligan.

Proceeds of more than $17,000 were donated to the Federation’s Endowment for Women’s Services at Atrium Medical Center. Created in 2010, this endowment supports mammograms and other preventative and diagnostic services for women who require financial assistance. Since the Charity Ball began in 1920, the Federation has donated more than $1 million to fund equipment and services at the hospital.

A gathering of 265 guests enjoyed their evening at the abbey. “It was a pleasure to be part of a worthwhile tradition that has taken place for 95 years,” said Jamie, a breast cancer survivor who knows firsthand how much breast cancer support services are needed in our community.

Jamie Murphy-Harrison and Philip Harrison cochaired the 2015 Charity Ball, Christmas at the Abbey.
