In June, the Fraternal Order of Eagles presented the UVMC Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation Department with another $10,000 grant. Since 1997, the Eagles’ generosity and concern for our patients has resulted in $146,000 in funding to support this vital program.

Why has UVMC been blessed with such generosity? “A past president of the Eagles, Doyle Thrasher, came to UVMC for cardiac care,” says Larry Ryan, Secretary of the Tipp City Eagles, Secretary of District 15 and UVMC Foundation Board member. Jean Heath, RN, MSN Director of the UVMC Cancer Care Center, Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation, Pastoral Care and Community Health and Wellness is grateful for the Eagles’ support. Patient education is the primary beneficiary of the grant funds. “For example, we provide patient teaching workbooks for cardiac and pulmonary rehab patients in our eight-to-twelve week rehab program that they can take home.”

“All cardiopulmonary rehab ‘graduates’ receive a T-shirt, courtesy of the Eagles grant,” adds Elaine Bohman, RN, BSN. “Additionally, we are able to continue to replace and upgrade our exercise and monitoring equipment on a regular basis,” reports Tami Maniaci-McMillan, RN, MS, exercise physiologist. Elaine and Tami serve as lead nurses in the department.

Gifts from the Eagles are also used for continuing staff education. “The majority of the staff has had the wonderful opportunity to attend at least a portion of an annual AACVPR meeting over the past couple of years,” said Jean Heath. “Attendance at educational conferences helps staff keep up with the current trends in rehabilitation and prevention strategies and to learn about the updated guidelines for pulmonary and cardiac care.” This knowledge ensures that our cardio-pulmonary patients get state-of-the-art care.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles is a national, non-profit, fraternal service organization established in 1898. “There are 196 Aeries in Ohio with 100,000 men and 30,000 women members,” according to Larry Ryan. “Our motto is ‘People Helping People’ and in 2010 the Eagles of Ohio have given over $500,000 in grants to hospitals, hospices, police departments and other service organizations within the state.” Larry also noted that, “The National Grand Aerie has pledged $25 million to support the Diabetes Research Center in Ames, Iowa, affiliated with the University of Iowa. Over the past five years, the Ohio State Aerie has given over $700,000 to The Ohio State University Medical School to support medical research.”
In Gratitude

Dear Friends,

The holiday season is when we typically pause and reflect on the many blessings we have received and heartily embrace the joy of giving.

This issue of the Legacy Letter celebrates the power of giving. Each individual gift we receive is added to the gifts of others. The power of this multiplies and magnifies each gift in such a way that the UVMC Foundation is able to support many important initiatives. Our hospital and our community continue to be blessed by the support and caring of many people, organizations and businesses. It is our pleasure to acknowledge our generous donors in this issue.

The kindness of our community has touched the tiniest infants in our Level II Nursery, the hundreds of people who, each year, discover they are afflicted with cancer, grandparents who recover from a stroke in our inpatient rehabilitation unit and each and every one of us who diligently gets their annual blood tests.

The UVMC Foundation’s newest project is to provide substantial funding for the new linear accelerator for our Cancer Care Center. Stouder Foundation has partnered with us on this vital project.

For all of us who have either experienced firsthand, or witnessed family members and friends face treatment for cancer, we know how important it is to have a cancer treatment center close to home.

Your life-affirming gifts mean so much to the members of our community facing health challenges.

Thank you for your support.
Thank you for caring.

Sincerely,
Kathleen Scarbrough
Executive Director

Giving

Thanks to the generosity of so many in our community over the past 12 years, gifts of more than $10 million in equipment, program support, scholarships and community education has been provided to our local hospital and the community it serves.

Over $560,000 in scholarships have been given to deserving local residents pursuing health-related degrees. The UVMC Cancer Care Center has a dedicated CT scan; Surgery has updated anesthesia machines and laparoscopic irrigators; the Imaging Department has digital mammography machines and updated diagnostic imaging units. Through your gifts, the UVMC Foundation has been able to buy new patient transport vehicles, ultrasound equipment, and exercise equipment for Cardiac Rehab and Physical Therapy. Treatment books and camisoles are provided to breast cancer patients. This year marked the 10th anniversary of our annual cancer awareness symposium.

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the UVMC Foundation, I want to extend a hearty “thank you” to our UVMC Volunteers and Auxiliary members for underwriting the beautiful lights on the trees that line the hospital drive and the stunning Christmas tree that graces the hospital lobby.

Wishing you and your loved ones a joyous holiday season and a healthy new year,

Vic Caven

Sixth Annual John J. Dugan Memorial Reception for Cancer Care a Great Success

For the sixth year, more than 140 people gathered at a Miami County residence in May to raise thousands of dollars for the UVMC Cancer Care Center.

The Dugan event for cancer care honoring the late John J. Dugan is sponsored by his wife, Jean, and their son, Brian.

John Dugan was a Miami County commissioner and long-time supporter of UVMC at the time of his death in 2003 from complications from esophageal cancer. His family chose to honor him through support of the local Cancer Care Center.

That commitment has raised close to $270,000 for Cancer Care Center projects such as relocation of a CT scanner to the center for convenience of cancer patients and purchase of massage and infusion chairs that provide warmth and massage while patients are receiving treatments.

Brian Dugan said each year’s event has raised consistently between $40,000 and $50,000.

“It is just a wonderful event,” Brian Dugan said. “I think it is one of the largest fund-raisers in the area for a hospital.”

New people are added each year to those supporting the cause. “It is really very gratifying. We would like to see it continue to grow,” Jean Dugan said.

The center’s expansion planned for this year and the addition of a second linear accelerator for radiation oncology is “exciting,” she said.

“One of our big interests is to see that word gets out that we have a great Cancer Care Center and a great staff here in Miami County,” Jean Dugan said.

The Dugans said they believe the fund raiser is successful, in part, because of those who open their homes to guests for the evening.

This year’s event was held at the Polo Barn on the grounds of Greg and Laura Stephens’ residence near Piqua.

“It is so wonderful there has been such enthusiasm and support from those attending annually and our hosts have been so gracious to open their homes for a big event like this,” Jean Dugan said.

Others who have hosted the fund raiser over the years have been Bill and Wanda Lukens, 2005; Henry and Linda Ernst, 2006; Dr. Norman and Georgia Armstrong, 2007; Tom Hagan, 2008; and Brent Black, 2009.

Brian Dugan said they make sure to report each year how the money is being used. “It has made some obvious differences to the care of the patients,” he said.

John Dugan founded Benefits Analysis Corporation, a Troy-based independent broker for employee benefit plans. A native of New York State, John Dugan served in the Marines in the Korean War and graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Ohio University.

Brian Dugan said his father would be pleased to see how the fundraiser has matured. “Dad would be so happy to know that the community is coming together to support cancer care in Miami County,” he said.

Bruce Feiler is a world traveler and best-selling author. He’s also a cancer survivor and family man who has used those latter experiences to help teach people how to reach out to others.

Feiler was the proud father of identical twin daughters when he was diagnosed in 2008 with a rare form of cancer in his femur. He underwent surgery in late 2008, and has been cancer free since.

The cancer experience sent Feiler down a personal and writing path he’d never contemplated.

The experience is outlined in his latest book, “The Council of Dads: My Daughters, My Illness and the Men Who Could Be Me,” and was shared by Feiler at the annual Bill and Ruth McGraw Cancer Awareness Symposium on June 10 to a crowd of nearly 300 people at the Crystal Room in Troy.

With a career that’s included writing about first-hand experiences with a circus to following biblical paths to produce New York Times best-sellers such as “Walking the Bible” and “America’s Prophet,” Feiler was no stranger to tackling challenging and complex topics.

Within days of his cancer diagnosis, Feiler decided to form a council of dads. The group of six men who had played a role in his life would be charged with being on hand for his daughters during the passages of their lives, if Feiler no longer was around.

The council project was a revealing project for all involved. “The Council of Dads forced me to sit down with my closest friends and tell them how much they mean to me,” he said.

As a writer, his journey with cancer and the Council of Dads was a natural topic.

The book “fell off my fingers,” Feiler said during an interview before his symposium presentation. “I knew immediately what I was trying to do, who I was writing it for.”

While other books have taken a year or more to write, this one took three months.

While other books have taken a year or more to write, this one took three months.

The response to “The Council of Dads” concept has been overwhelming, he said.

People “have found inspiration in this story,” he said. “Everybody who hears the idea wants to do something with it.”

In the months since the book was released in the spring, Feiler said he has been approached by people interested in pursuing a council.

The ideas have come from single parents looking for more support for a child, parents of teens who think another adult’s perspective might have more credibility with their child and for military parents, who may have frequent and extended times away from home.

Even Feiler’s wife, Linda, has formed a council of moms for the girls, who now are age 5.

Reaching out to friends by creating a council can provide lifetime support, he said, adding, “It gives us a feeling of security, of love and of life.”

This year’s event was made possible by the McGraw Family Fund of The Troy Foundation and grants from The Troy Foundation and the UVMC Foundation. This annual event is sponsored by the UVMC Foundation and the UVMC Cancer Care Center.

Duncans Donate Tulip Photographs

Two beautiful photographs now grace the hospital lobby. The tulips, planted by Joe Duncan and photographed by Gina Duncan, are arranged in a dyptich and brighten the lobby. Thank you Joe and Gina for your gift to UVMC.
